

1867

The U.S. send representatives to Medicine Lodge Creek in Kansas. These met with Comanche, Kiowa, Cheyenne, Apache, and Arapaho chiefs.

Some of the chiefs signed the Treaty of Medicine Lodge Creek. Chiefs move their people to Indian Territory (Oklahoma). They agreed to live on reservations.

② the U.S. would give food, clothes, tools and money

Chief Quonah Parker refused to sign (Comanche Chief). He wanted right to live freely on Comanche land. He was son of Chief PETA NOCOWA (nuh KOH nuh)

This treaty was soon broken by both sides
